THE SACRAMENT OF RECONCILIATION

THE SACRAMENT OF MERCY

The Sacrament of Reconciliation is available every Saturday from 4:00 to 5:00 PM. This is an important Sacrament in which we experience the Mercy of God. Who should come to confession? Everyone should come to this sacrament. Why should we come? We should come if we are interested in growing in discipleship. No one is perfect. Neither the priest, the pope nor the bishop, not even are you. Confession is self accusatory without explanations. It is a place where we face ourselves and our motives for doing good. Are all our good acts other centered or may they too be self-centered? It is in discussing the state of our Spirit that we can get back on track. Who should go to Eucharist? Those who are seeking to follow Christ. Those who are struggling to follow the Gospel even with occasional falls and errors. Those whose heart is going towards Christ on Christ's terms not their own. Who should not go to communion? Those who are aware of grave and serious sin which has not been confessed in the Sacrament of Reconciliation spoken to the priest of the state of their life. Never be afraid to approach the priest with whom you can relate. Situations which may be embarrassing, off color, of sexual nature, of criminal nature, the priest is there for forgiveness and healing. He has heard it all previously. The good thing is, he forgets. Remember, no one is perfect. We, including the priest, all struggle, even with ourselves, to live the Gospel. So, come and be forgiven, be filled with Grace and keep moving to a deeper relationship with the Lord.

Dear Parish Family:

Imagine if our energy was directed to doing good, to finding solutions to problems, to addressing issues which can improve our quality of life. Imagine if we used our energy to create a positive environment where relationships could grow, productivity increase and respect for the person is enhanced. In today's first reading and Gospel, we are invited to direct our energies and resources towards the continuous building up of the Kingdom of God.

In the first reading from the Book of the Prophet Amos, we are told that one's relationship with God must be lived out in just and right relationships with others. Amos is addressing those who are wealthy. He is critical of their selfish greed. He is also critical of their worship. He accuses these greedy people of wanting to cut short their holy days so they could return to their daily business and continue to ignore the poor and destitute in their midst. Notice that Amos does not criticize their wealth but rather their greed. They ignored doing good for others. Rather, they used their wealth for themselves. Had they used their resources for the building up of the people, they would have been greatly blessed.

In the Gospel, we are presented with a rather interesting parable of a wicked servant. The servant proved to be most creative and resourceful with his master's money. While the servant was dishonest, he saved himself. Jesus does not praise the servant's dishonesty but rather his resourcefulness. Jesus remarks that those who are worldly and unscrupulous are more energetic in pursuing their plans than those who are working for the Kingdom of God. If energies and the resources of the unscrupulous were redirected to doing good, the world would be a better place.

How can we understand this parable? Resources can be seen as money, time or talents. During Lent, I suggested that would it not be a good idea if people went to Mass every day? While many did come, some said: "Oh, Mass is too early to get to during the week." I suggested the possibility of voluntary fasting which would be a personal commitment with a donation to a soup kitchen at the end of the fast. The response was: "that is too difficult." However, I met those same people running early in the day and others going to the gym in the morning. I learned that those who said that fasting was too much, to be dieting. I discovered that those who could not come to the Stations of the Cross did find time to go to Atlantic City. When asked to increase a weekly donation to five, ten or twenty dollars, it was seen as too much, but the same people were betting on numbers and playing lotto.

This is the point of the parable. We are more likely to be more energetic and more likely to give of ourselves to worldly pursuits then to building up the Kingdom of God. Imagine if all our energies were redirected to doing what God has asked of us what a world this would be? If this is true, why is it true? What is it about human psyche that allows for this behavior which seeks first what we want and then maybe what God may want?

Msgr. Guy A. Massie
