Dear Parish Family,

Today is the Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time. Our vestments are green signifying growth in the Holy Spirit. The two basic themes of today's Liturgy of the Word are the demands of discipleship and freedom.

First let us look at the theme of discipleship. Discipleship is a demanding lifestyle. It means placing one's master first above all other relationships. In the first reading from the first Book of Kings: 19-16, 19-21, we see the demands of discipleship. When Elijah calls Elisha to be his successor, Elisha must leave all that is familiar to him and follow the call. In the Gospel, we see a similar demand. Three people approach Jesus with the intention of being his disciples. In each case Jesus refuses their intentions. In doing so, Jesus outlines his demands of discipleship. For Jesus the disciple must be ready not to have security. The relationship to Jesus must hold first place in the life of the disciple even taking precedence over family obligations and relationships. St. Benedict told his monks: "Prefer nothing to Jesus." Discipleship means learning from Jesus, imitating Jesus and conforming one's mind and heart to Jesus. This is a tall order. Jesus is very honest about his expectations.

While all of us are called to discipleship, most of us have religion, some of us have faith and fewer of us really answer the call to discipleship. Religion and faith go together. Religion answers the questions, how do we live the faith? Faith is the relationship we have with God in the sacraments, especially the Eucharist, sacred text and the community. Discipleship is not limited to the professional Christian. Everyone is called to a deeper conversion to the faith. Not every priest is a disciple of Christ, not every bishop is a disciple of Christ and not every pope or sister or layperson is a disciple of Christ. They may be faithful people, good people, but the disciple is sensitive to the deep movements of the Holy Spirit working in him or her. This sensitivity to the Holy Spirit moves the want to be disciples to seek to be converted by the grace of God to the mind and heart of Jesus. All are called, few will answer.

Discipleship is lived among people in one's community or family. The faithful disciple can affect change for the better in the lives of people through his/her example. The Disciple need not preach or even speak about the faith. The values and the norms of the way the disciple lives his or her life speaks volumes to others. The way the disciple deals with difficult situations such as disappointments, anger, hurt and injustice, etc. illustrates the gospel values which are the foundation of the life of the disciple. We have seen among spouses how the faithfulness and fervor can positively affect the other who might not have been a deep believer. Friendships have been changed for the better simply by the good example of one or the other.

The second reading from Paul's letter to the Galatians gives us some insight into the life discipleship can change our worlds. Disciples are called to live in the Holy Spirit. They are free living people. Paul speaks to us about life in the flesh and life in the Spirit. Life in the flesh is described in Galatians 5:19:21. We read: "Now the works of the flesh are immorality, licentiousness, idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, selfishness, dissension, envy, drunkenness and carousing." The want to be disciple however seeks to life in the Spirit. Life in the Spirit is characterized by love, generosity and self control. If we can strive to live these values with each other, we would be free and the world would be a better place. While most of us live somewhere between life in the flesh and life in the Spirit, those desiring to answer the call of discipleship strive to live their lives in the Spirit and when they fall, they seek reconciliation.

Discipleship is a lifelong journey of constant conversion, constant reflection and constant striving to learn from Christ, to imitate Christ and to convert one's mind and heart to Christ. This can only happen with the grace of the Holy Spirit.

We need your assistance!

One of the best ways to help our faith community grow through hospitality.

We are seeking donations of napkins, small plates, coffee cups and coffee supplies in order to help our hospitality ministers.

If you are interested in providing some of these items, please see Anthony, Edwin or John Mark at the entrance of the church.

I am the Church, You are the Church, We are the Church, Together!

PURCHASES FROM AMAZON

Did you know that by using AmazonSmile.com when making purchases, our Parish can earn money? It's a simple process. Log in to AmazonSmile.com, select your purchases, and when checking out, choose Sacred Hearts and St. Stephen Church as the charity you wish to support and Amazon takes care of the rest. Our checking account will be credited each time you do this. It's a fast and easy way to help support this great parish and all you have to do is click a button!

We thank you in advance for your attention and support!

ANNUAL MEMORIAL CANDLES

Annual Memorial Candles are available at the Rectory. These candles remain lit for one year and may be memorialized in memory of a loved one, in thanksgiving for blessings received, or in remembrance of a milestone birthday event. The cost is $100 ($110.00 initially to cover the cost of the personalized plaque) per year. The plaque may bear the inscription of your choosing (the more you add, the smaller the letters will appear on the plaque). If you are interested and wish to receive additional information, please call the Rectory during business hours and speak with Rose Marie Foglia. We will be happy to assist you.
